Protestantism in Poland and Bohemia: Book The English fleet assailed this dyke in vain. Note that the available print-on-demand versions of this work by Nabu Press are a spectacularly unreadable farce.

The author was one of the better sort of the Scotch Episcopalians. The Toleration the punishment was in accordance with the mediaeval laws and well nigh universal sentiment of Catholic and Protestant Christendom; it was unconditionally counselled by four Swiss magistrates which had been consulted before the execution Zurich, Berne, Basel, and Schaffhausen and was expressly approved by all the surviving reformers: Bullinger, Farel, Beza, Peter Martyr, and as we have already seen even by the mild and gentle Melancthon.
